

Review this information carefully before making the decision to enroll in summer classes. To avoid taking on additional debt, Student Registration and Financial Services (SRFS) recommends that you attend summer classes only if absolutely necessary.

Applications must be received by the appropriate application deadline:

If you want to receive notification of summer aid eligibility prior for Summer Session I, you must submit your application by May 1, 2021.

If you want to receive notification of summer aid eligibility prior for Summer Session II, you must submit your application by June 4, 2021.

Applications submitted after deadline will not be accepted and financial assistance will not be available for summer costs.

Eligibility

To be considered for federal or institutional aid to attend summer school, you must meet the following criteria:

- Be registered for a minimum of 2 credit units (CU) throughout summer 2021.

1 CU in Summer Session I + 1 CU in Summer Session II

or

2 CU in Summer Session I or 2 CU in Summer Session II

NOTE: Students who are enrolled in fewer than 2 CU and are requesting assistance should still submit this application so SRFS can officially determine your options. You will likely be referred to federal and/or alternative loans.

- Be a continuing student enrolled in a Penn undergraduate program
- Be enrolled in courses that are applied to your degree
- Not be in default on a federal or Penn student loan
- Received need-based financial aid from Penn in 2020-2021

Summer School Information

Financial Aid

Penn's grant-based undergraduate financial aid program does not extend into summer sessions, and students should understand in advance that most aid will be available in the form of federal or private student loans. Limited grant funding is available for highly aided undergraduate students. Students can learn more about summer financial aid on the Student Registration & Financial Services website.

Federal Work-Study

If you are planning to enroll in classes and also want Federal Work-Study, you should complete the Federal Work-Study application available on the Student Employment website at <https://srfs.upenn.edu/student-employment>. The Federal Work-Study application will be available on the SRFS website at the end of April 2021. You must also submit your 2020-2021 and 2021-2022 FAFSAs.

To Apply

- Review the eligibility criteria and Summer School information on the preceding page.
- Submit the completed Undergraduate Financial Aid Application for Summer School 2021 by the appropriate deadline. If you want to receive notification of summer aid eligibility prior for Summer Session I, you must submit your application by May 1, 2021. If you want to receive notification of summer aid eligibility prior for Summer Session II, you must submit your application by June 4, 2021. Applications submitted after deadline will not be accepted and financial assistance will not be available for summer costs.

After You Apply

- Notification - We will send you an email once your financial aid notice is available. You will be able to review your financial aid through Penn InTouch at <http://www.upenn.edu/pennintouch>.
- Drop/Add - Complete a revised summer school application if you add or drop courses that will affect the amount of your tuition and fees charged. SFS will recalculate your financial aid eligibility, and produce a revised notification letter. NOTE: If your final registration is only 1 CU for the summer, you are not eligible for most financial aid assistance.
- Loan Notes - Sign your loan note(s) online as soon as possible. You will receive an email with instructions on how to complete this process online. Credit will not be applied to your student account until SRFS receives notification of your signed loan note(s).

- To apply for a Federal Direct Loan, please email stuloans@pobox.upenn.edu.

Please include: your full name, PennID, type of loan, loan period and loan amount requested.

The application needs to be completed as early as possible and no later than July 10, 2021.*
