GRANT-BASED FINANCIAL AID PROGRAM

Penn is the nation’s largest university with a program that enables full-time, traditional undergraduates to receive grant-based aid packages for eight academic semesters.

The grant-based aid program applies to dependent undergraduate students in the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Nursing, the School of Engineering and Applied Science, and the Wharton School who are pursuing their first bachelor’s degree.

The grant-based program demonstrates Penn’s commitment to increase access for qualified students from all economic backgrounds.
cost of attendance

We based your financial aid award on the current year’s cost of attendance, which represents the cost of attending Penn for an academic year and includes both direct costs that appear on your student bill and indirect costs that are not billed by Penn. You should consider your cost of attendance as your budget for each academic year. We will notify you when a revised aid notice is available that will be based on the 2020-2021 cost of attendance.

The cost of attendance for 2020-2021 will be posted on our website in Spring 2020.

Direct Costs (Costs that appear on your student bill)

Tuition and fees are fixed costs. These mandatory fees include the general fee, the educational technology fee, and the student health clinical fee.

The housing allowance is based on the first-year room rate in the University College Houses. Starting with the Class of 2024, students are required to live in on-campus housing during their first two years of enrollment.

The meal allowance represents the cost of the first-year dining plan through Penn Dining. Students are required to participate in a meal plan during their first year of enrollment.

Indirect Costs (Estimated costs not billed by Penn)

The books and supplies allowance provides for the annual cost of required textbooks and supplies.

The transportation allowance provides for local transportation costs. The approximate cost of two round-trips home may be added based on your permanent address. If relevant, this will appear on your award notice as “Undergraduate Travel.”

Personal expenses include allowances for clothing, laundry, recreation, etc.

Other Expenses

Other expenses include the New Student Orientation fee and student health insurance if you are not covered under your parents’ plan. You may also wish to purchase a computer from Penn’s Computer Connection. Upon request, financial aid may be able to assist you with loan funding to cover these additional costs. For an explanation of fees, please visit www.srfs.upenn.edu/undergraduate-fees.

Student Health Insurance

All full-time students must submit health and immunization records and maintain comprehensive health insurance as a condition of enrollment. Students who do not have insurance, whose plans do not provide coverage in the Philadelphia area, or whose plans do not meet Penn’s criteria for alternative insurance will automatically be enrolled in the Penn Student Insurance Plan (PSIP). For details, visit the Student Health Service’s site at www.vpul.upenn.edu/shs.
how financial need is determined

Financial aid is awarded based on your evaluated financial need. To arrive at your financial need, we subtract your family contribution, as determined by Penn and the Department of Education, from Penn’s cost of attendance.

Expected Family Contribution

Penn’s financial aid packaging philosophy is that a student’s education is a shared investment between the student, their family, and the University. Therefore, Penn awards financial aid to supplement, not replace, your family’s ability to pay. Our goal is to assist as many families as possible in a fair and equitable manner.

Your expected family contribution includes contributions from both you and your parents. Your parents’ contribution is determined by considering income, assets, family size, all taxes paid, number of dependent children in college or private school and the cost of each school, and special circumstances.

Your student contribution includes a portion of your current savings, a portion of dividend and interest income, and expected savings from summer of 2020 employment.

finalize your financial aid award

To finalize your award, you need to submit the following (if you have not already done so):

- FAFSA: File a 2020-2021 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) between October 1, 2019 and April 15, 2020.

- 2018 Tax Returns and W-2s: Your application for financial aid is based on your prior-prior tax year information, which requires you to submit signed copies of your parents’ and your 2018 federal tax returns. Be sure to include all pages, schedules, and W-2 forms. After we receive and review these documents, we will confirm your aid eligibility.

- Sibling Enrollment Certification: If you indicated that you will have a sibling enrolled in college in 2020-2021, your financial aid was awarded based on this information. SFS may follow up with you to confirm this information at the start of the academic year. Your award may be adjusted in cases where sibling enrollment changes from what was previously reported on your financial aid application.

financial assistance in future years

Penn commits to providing you with grant-based financial aid packages for eight academic semesters. You should plan in advance for future years. Your financial aid eligibility for institutional funding should be similar throughout your undergraduate years, as long as your family’s financial situation remains similar. Remember, changes in sibling enrollment will have an impact on your financial aid package.

Summer savings expectations are higher for returning upperclass students than for entering freshmen since the summer break is typically longer for enrolled students.

To continue to receive aid, you must submit a financial aid application and tax returns each year. Financial aid applications, College Board Profile, and Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) are available each year on October 1.
financial aid funds

Eligibility for Federal Funds
To be eligible for assistance from any of the following federal aid programs:

› Federal Pell Grant
› Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)
› Federal Direct Loan (Subsidized and Unsubsidized)
› Federal Direct PLUS Loan
› Federal Work-Study (FWS)

You must:

› File a FAFSA
› Make satisfactory academic progress
› Not be in default on a Federal Loan
› Not owe a refund on a Federal Pell Grant or Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)

Eligibility for State Funds
You may be eligible for a state grant. Please consult with your state grant agency.

Eligibility for Institutional Funds
You will be considered for Penn funds based on your financial need as determined by Penn.

federal verification process
The federal government randomly selects recipients of federal funding for verification of their tax and household information. If you are selected, you will be notified when to complete this process by both the federal processor of your FAFSA via your Student Aid Report and by Penn’s financial aid office. Your federal funding will not disburse until you complete this process.

satisfactory academic progress
Federal regulations require that all students be reviewed at the end of each term to determine satisfactory academic progress standing. In order to maintain eligibility in the federal aid programs (Pell, SEOG, Federal Work-Study, Direct Loans) you must be progressing satisfactorily toward your degree. The assessment is based on GPA, completion rate, pace, and maximum time frame. Visit the SRFS website for more details.

summer financial aid program
Penn’s commitment is to provide financial assistance during the fall and spring semesters. We have a very limited summer financial aid program consisting of loans. If you are considering enrolling in summer sessions, keep in mind that you may need to apply for federal educational loans. To be eligible for summer financial aid, students must be enrolled at least half time in coursework that will be applied toward their degree. Financial aid applications for summer sessions are available on our website during the spring semester.
grant aid

Penn Grant and University Named Scholarships
These awards are made from either general University funds or specific funds earmarked by the donor for financial aid. Penn Grant and named scholarships are awarded based on evaluated financial need. Some donors may have stipulated additional criteria (e.g. school, major, etc.). All institutional grants are awarded for a total of eight semesters to traditional undergraduates enrolled full-time in an undergraduate program.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)
This federally funded grant is based on financial need as determined by your FAFSA.

Federal Pell Grant
Eligibility for this federal grant is determined by the U.S. Department of Education, and is based on your FAFSA. The Federal Pell Grant on your financial aid award letter may be an estimate. Actual credit will be applied to your student account after your FAFSA information has been verified through the federal verification process. Enrollment in fewer than three credit units a semester may reduce the amount of your Pell Grant. University Grant/Scholarship is not available to replace a Pell Grant should you reduce credit units.

State Grants
If you qualify for a state grant, we will include an estimate on your award notice. The amount will be adjusted based on what you actually receive from the state. The University grant will be adjusted accordingly.

Students from Delaware, Massachusetts, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and West Virginia must submit a FAFSA by their state’s deadline. Residents of Vermont must also submit a state application. Check with your state agency for details. University Grant/Scholarship is not available to replace state grant funds.

Taxability of Grants
Students receiving grants should be aware that total grant aid in excess of tuition, fees, books and supplies required for courses of instruction is subject to federal income taxation. In some cases, the University is required by the Internal Revenue Code to withhold federal income tax on grant awards to non-resident students. Consult your tax advisor if you have any questions.

outside scholarships
Penn provides financial aid packages that cover 100% of your demonstrated financial need. If you receive an outside scholarship, we will consider it as part of your overall financial aid funding.

We will apply your outside scholarship funding to your package to reduce or replace some of the funds that you as a student are expected to contribute or earn. We will first apply the outside scholarship funds to reduce or eliminate the “summer savings” component of your financial aid package. If necessary, we will then reduce or eliminate the work study allotment you would be expected to earn throughout the year. If your outside scholarship is larger than the combined value of your summer savings expectation and your work-study allotment, the remaining amount will replace university grant funding. You are required to report to Student Financial Services all scholarships or grants awarded to you from any source outside the University. Scholarship checks and correspondence should be mailed to the address listed on page 10.

federal work-study
Student Financial Services awards federal work-study to eligible students for the academic year. Federal work-study job earnings are not credited to your student bill; you will be paid directly each week based on the actual hours you work. For details, review the Student Employment website at www.srfs.upenn.edu/student-employment.

While we encourage you to use your work-study award, you may decide to replace part, or all, of this resource with a Federal Direct Loan. Review A Word About Loans on page 5 first, then contact our office if you need assistance.
a word about loans

Penn stands out as one of the few universities that does not include loans in aid packages for traditional, dependent undergraduate students. This means 100% of your demonstrated financial need is met with work-study funding and grants.

Students may still choose to borrow to help defray their expected family contribution. We recommend that you borrow only what you need, even if you are eligible for a higher amount, and only to accomplish a specific goal, such as:

› in lieu of using your work-study funding
› to replace all or part of your expected family contribution

Types of Loans

Federal Loans
Federal loans (Direct Loan for students, which may be subsidized or unsubsidized, and the Direct PLUS Loan for parents) should be the first choice for U.S. citizens and permanent residents. They generally offer the best terms, as well as loan consolidation and flexible repayment options. See the next page for more information.

Private Alternative Educational Loans
A number of private lenders and other financial institutions offer education loans to students. These loans are not subsidized and may carry higher interest rates and fees than federal loans. A credit-worthy co-signer is usually required, especially for international students. If you think you need an alternative loan, consult with a financial aid counselor and visit the loans section of our website at www.srf.s.upenn.edu/loans.

your bill

Penn.Pay

Penn.Pay is the University’s electronic billing and payment system. Here you can view your account activity, make payments, and set up authorized users. Authorized users are able to view your bill and make payments on your behalf. In order for your parents to access Penn.Pay, you must invite them to be authorized users.

Receiving Your Bill

Notification that your student account billing statement is available will be sent to your University email address, beginning with a July statement.

Billing Schedule

The billing schedule will be posted to the SRFS website in the spring.

Paying Your Bill

There are several ways to pay your bill:

Please note: Penn does not accept student account payments in cash.

Online via your U.S. bank
Use Penn.Pay to schedule both the payment date and amount to pay from your checking or savings account. Accounts must be with a U.S. financial institution.

Online using a Credit Card
Use Penn.Pay and pay with a credit card. A convenience fee will be assessed and will appear on your credit card billing statement. Note that Penn does not receive any compensation or portion of the convenience fee for providing credit card payment options.

Check
Pay from a U.S. checking or savings account. Payment remittance slips must accompany your payment and can be printed from Penn.Pay.

Wire Transfer
See the SRFS website for details at www.srfs.upenn.edu/billing-payment/wire-transfer.

A late payment penalty of 1.5% of any past-due balance will be assessed monthly. A past-due balance may result in your student account being placed on financial hold which can restrict future registration, receipt of your diploma, and transcript requests.

For additional information about Penn.Pay, visit the SRFS website at www.srfs.upenn.edu/pennpay.
